作品集：

The portfolio helps the reviewers determine your potential to perform successfully in a studio-based design curriculum. The portfolio may include any creative work that the applicant has undertaken. Students with or without design or art backgrounds are encouraged to apply to the MID First Professional Program. The portfolio should creatively address the content using work, class-work, projects, or hobbies which illustrates the applicants thinking about design and creativity.

➤ FORMAT

Portfolios should be designed and formatted for on-screen viewing. Maximum file size is 25 MB.

➤ ATTRIBUTION

For each project, list the applicant's name, the project's date, and an indication as to whether the project was academic, office-related, or personal. In the case of collaborative or professional work, the contribution by the applicant must be precisely described.

➤ ORGANIZATION

The organization of the portfolio is a design exercise. It should be clear, succinct, and thoughtfully composed to best reflect your interests and skills. The quality of the work is of greater importance than quantity.

➤ CONTENT

The portfolio is not expected to show interior design skills. Rather, it should contain work that demonstrates facility with a variety of media and illustrates three-dimensional understanding. You may demonstrate your creative, artistic, and perceptual skills through painting, sculpture, or other three-dimensional

- The portfolio is an opportunity to demonstrate your imaginative and critical thinking talents. Creativity occurs in all fields so the content does not have to be architectural if your background is in another discipline. Written project statements to accompany visual work are usually very helpful to the committee. Portfolios are submitted through the application process to get accepted (<https://app.getacceptd.com/daap>). We are no longer accepting hard copies of portfolios.

- Still images (20 - 25 images). Please use Slideroom's Media Details feature to input titles, medium, dimensions, and year of creation for each image submitted. The images should constitute a cohesive body of work, while also providing a sense of the scope of the applicant's practice.
- Non-Interactive media (video, film, performance documentation, animation). If the work exceeds Slideroom's 60MB capacity you may post works online and provide a link. IMPORTANT NOTE: Applicants must utilize Slideroom's Documents file as an easy option to indicate the presence of time-based work posted online. The faculty admissions committee will be reviewing work and will not find the alternatively provided materials without your bringing it to their attention. For group or collaborative projects, be sure to indicate your role on the project. For excerpts of video projects, it is especially important to include information to contextualize the clip provided.
- Interactive media (interactive DVD-Video, Flash, HTML, Director, etc.) Applicants may post interactive works online and provide a link, as in the directions above. Interactive media should be prepared as a guided tour or linear movie. Text or voice annotation should be provided as necessary, as well as sufficient screen or video captures. Be sure to provide a synopsis of each interactive piece, including the title and date created.
The recommended pixel dimensions for any video project is no less than 640 x 480 (standard) or 720 x 480 (wide screen), but you may wish to include a recommended viewing size for playback on a PC or Mac.
